DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-30, 33, and 34, in the reply filed on May 23, 2005 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-30, 33, and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The wording "type" in claims 1, 2, 11, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 22, 24, 29, and 30 is indefinite. When the expression "type" appended to an otherwise definite term, may render said term indefinite. Ex parte Copenhaver, 109 USPQ 118.

Claim 34 is indefinite because the meaning of "a time less than the time required to cool the part to room temperature" is unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-30 and 33-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over USP 4001053 to Igisu (PTO-1449).

Igisu in col. 1, lines 5-54 discloses residual stress in metal or ceramic could be removed by known vibration method, heating method, and in addition seasoning method. In col. 10, examples 1-6, Igisu discloses residual stress is reduced by vibration under the condition of normal temperature. In col. 13, Examples 13-14 of Igisu have shown that steel materials are induction hardened (heated and quenched), then vibration treated in order to reduce residual stress. Since the instant claims do not disclose any material, temperature, energy unit, or any measurable parameters for the process steps, which are considered read on the conditions as set forth in Igisu or conventional. Therefore, as is stated in In re Peterson, 315 F.3d 1325, 1329-30, 65 USPQ2d 1379, 1382 (Fed. Cir. 2003), that “A prima facie case of obviousness typically exists when the ranges of a claimed composition overlap the ranges disclosed in the prior art”. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select any portion of range, including the claimed range, from the broader range disclosed in a prior art reference because the prior art reference finds that the prior art composition in the entire disclosed range has a suitable utility. Also see MPEP § 2131.03 and § 2123.

Art Unit: 1742

With respect to the instant recited Larson-Miller parameter that the instant claims do not disclose any material, temperature, energy unit, or any measurable parameters for the process steps, which are considered read on the conditions as set forth in Igisu or conventional.

Conclusion

The above rejection relies on the reference(s) for all the teachings expressed in the text(s) of the references and/or one of ordinary skill in the metallurgical art would have reasonably understood or implied from the text(s) of the reference(s). To emphasize certain aspect(s) of the prior art, only specific portion(s) of the text(s) have been pointed out. Each reference as a whole should be reviewed in responding to the rejection, since other sections of the same reference and/or various combination of the cited references may be relied on in future rejection(s) in view of amendment(s).

All recited limitations in the instant claims have been met by the rejections as set forth above.

Applicant is reminded that when amendment and/or revision is required, applicant should therefore specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.121 and 37 C.F.R. Part §41.37 (c)(1)(v).
